

Importing tables into a workbook (Part II)

The steps are recorded and can be refreshed, but every table is copied into the workbook, and each question across tables needs a merge first.

Querying the database (Part III)

Nothing is copied until the query asks for it. The query text documents the extraction and runs again when the data changes.