

Reshaping (Power Query, a PivotTable) changes the layout and leaves every value as it is. Correcting a value changes the data and leaves the layout as it is. A dataset can need either, both or neither: these are different jobs.

Amounts: the Charles River salaries budgets of three cost centers, fiscal 2025, as in Figure 2.6. The wrong amount is the same amount with its last two whole-number digits swapped, added for the illustration; it is not in the data.