

The message pane turns red and names the column it cannot find, at the line where the statement starts. The result grid between the editor and the pane is not shown.