

Account 2060 Customer Deposits and Unapplied Cash joins receipts, credits on paid invoices and refunds: every receipt passes through it, and every refund is paid from it.

Control points: what a well-designed cycle checks, and what the records cannot show

C1	Every credit rests on a return received outside customer service	Whether anyone inspected the goods, their condition, or a carrier claim.
C2	Credits approved within the approver's authority	The delegation of authority for credits, if one exists; who prepared the credit.
C3	Credits at the invoice price for no more than was shipped	The freight-credit policy for partial returns and an outside criterion for the tax; the stored totals keep a few cent-level rounding variants.
C4	The credit approver does not handle that customer's cash	Cash handled outside the system (mail opening, deposits, remittance advices).
C5	A clawback for every credit line at the accrual's rate	Whether the representatives were informed; the approval of the rates beyond their end date.
C6	Refunds approved within authority, outside customer service	The delegation of authority for refunds; who prepared the refund (no preparer column).
C7	A refund only of a credit balance the customer has paid	Whether a payment had cleared the bank; the customer's request for the refund.
C8	Refunds to the payer's own method or account, net of open balances	The payee's name, the bank account, and the customer's written request: no table holds them.
C9	Cash applied promptly to the remitting customer's invoices	Remittance advices and bank deposit records.

C The records evidence part of it: the rest is written beside the badge

C The evidence lies outside the database

Document flow

Posting to the ledger

The model answer's marking, from the Cycle Map and Risks sheets: 8 control points are evidenced in part (C3 among them, since the freight policy for partial returns and a criterion for the tax lie outside the records), and 1 (C8) rests mostly on evidence in no table. The badge style carries the reading with its fill and its outline, not its color alone. Departments are the cost centers of the people each document names.